MISCELLANEOUS READING. WONDERFUL TURN IN THE TIDE OF FORTUNE.

Among the many passengers in the Collins steamer Pacific, which disapeared in 1856, were Jabez Barber, wife and daughter, of Chicago. Mr. Barber possessed an extensive property of some $300,000 in value. The steamer's lose swept away his entire family, with the exception of one little girl-then an infant of three yearswho was left in Chicago during her parents European tour. When all hope of any tidings were abandoned, the Probate Court opened the will; by it all this immense estate, apart from a few private bequests, was left to the surviving child, who thus became one of the largest direct beiresses in the country. In case of her death it was to revert to her nearest kin. A few weeks since this little one. who has never enjoyed perfect health, was stricken with scarlet fever. Much concern continued to be felt throughout the city as the insidious disease heightened; for every one appeared interested in the peculiar cir-cumstances. On Friday last, when buman skill resigned its baffled efforts to save so 800 valuable a life, death terminated the child's 500 sufferings; and threw into the lap of those 400 who never dreamed of being wealthy, a for-300 tune of solid value. The next kin are three sisters of Mr. Barber, who live at Simcoe, 100,000 Canada West. To these the will left two bundred per annum. The ladies are at presinscrutable decree of Providence, they have come into possession of an estate whose intrinsic value is at least $400,000. As Byron woke up one morning and found himself famous, so will these poor people suddenly find themselves rich and endowed with more wealth than their wildest dreams ever piotured. [This case was briefly referred to in an article in last Saturday's Gazette.]
